STARK
& STARK PC

Stark & Stark has been a moving force at NJTL of Trenton for the past 17 years. Founded in 1933, Stark & Stark has grown from a local, family-run practice into one of the oldest and most respected full-service law firms in New Jersey. Now headquartered in Hamilton, with additional offices spanning Pennsylvania and New York, the firm boasts a dedicated staff of over 100 attorneys and 200 legal professionals across more than 30 practice areas. Throughout its storied 90-plus year history Stark and Stark has combined the personalized attention of a boutique firm with the robust resources of a regional powerhouse serving both corporate entities and individuals. The firm handles everything from complex business transactions and litigation, personal injury, family law, employment law, real estate, estate planning, and trust litigation. Yet, what truly defines Stark and Stark is an unwavering commitment to community progress. The firm's advocacy extends far beyond the courtroom. Actively supporting over 120 regional organizations, guided by core values of integrity, professional excellence, and civic responsibility. Stark and Stark is proud to support NJTL of Trenton, a champion of local youth, equity, and civic empowerment.

Bryan McGuirk

Bryan McGuirk is a respected media and satellite industry executive whose career has spanned more than three decades of innovation, leadership, and industry advancement. He currently serves as Chief Commercial Officer at LTN, a media technology company that helps major media companies create, customize, and deliver content globally. At LTN, he leads the company's sales, business development, and customer-facing technology organizations.

Previously, Bryan held senior leadership roles at Globecom, Vivisat, and SES Americom, where he helped advance satellite communications and media distribution solutions while working with many of the world's leading media companies. Earlier in his career, he held executive business development positions with Liberty Media, NBC, and Turner Broadcasting in the United States and Asia-Pacific.

A lifelong tennis player, Bryan enjoys sharing his passion for the sport with his family. He and his wife, Jenny, have two children, William and Grace, who are also avid tennis players.

Beyond his professional accomplishments, Bryan has demonstrated a strong commitment to community service. He served as Chairman of the Board of Directors of Space & Satellite Professionals International and continues to volunteer and support organizations including the Society of St. Vincent de Paul (SVDP) and the National Junior Tennis & Learning (NJTL) program in Trenton.

NJTL of Trenton Mission & Vision

NJTLT is a nonprofit community organization that enriches the lives of youth from under-resourced communities through innovative tennis, education, and mentoring programs preparing student-athletes for successful college admissions and career pathways.

NJTLT serves students ages 8-18 through a unique combination of year-round academic and athletic programming. Our comprehensive approach blends instruction in math, writing, and social-emotional learning with hands-on STEM experiences, helping young people build the skills and confidence they need to succeed both on and off the court. Each year, we positively impact more than 1,000 youth, with a strong focus on long-term engagement. We know that the longer a young person remains involved with NJTLT, the greater the opportunity to foster academic achievement, personal growth, and life-changing outcomes.
